

The way healthcare was intendedSM

We partner with physicians to provide patients the highest level of care so that our communities can thrive.

As one of the nation's leading providers of healthcare services, HCA has been at the forefront of patient-centered hospital care since it was founded by physicians in 1968. Each of HCA's locally managed facilities is dedicated to healthier outcomes for our patients.

160+ hospitals

115+ freestanding

We are here to champion health

At HCA, that's our calling.

- To give patients the high-quality, compassionate care they deserve.
- To partner with our physicians to give them the ability to practice medicine the way it was intended: patient-centered, constantly evolving, constantly improving.
- To bring the best of business to bear on the way we manage health, turning our reach and scale to our patients' advantage.

We must learn and share.

We must work with integrity.

We must be kind.

Together, we can fulfill the promise of a healthier world.

“Above all else, we are committed to the care and improvement of human life.”

Dr. Thomas F. Frist, Sr.

You benefit from our commitment to your needs.

Here, you have a voice.

At HCA, physicians are on the front lines of care. We value your input and ensure that it influences our operations. As the best advocates for advancing clinical standards, you can depend on us to anticipate and respond to your needs.

Growing practices. Growing people.

We're here to help extend your reach. HCA helps handle administrative needs and offers expert advice to help our people grow. We offer a team of people who review new regulations and share them with your practice. We also invest in continued learning to help keep your practice at the forefront of medical innovation.

Time for better healthcare.

For your patients, you want procedures to start on time, with the right equipment. You want less turnover time between cases and streamlined paperwork. With HCA, you have access to facilities and infrastructure dedicated to quality and efficiency of your practice. And for the latest scientific research findings, you have access to insights from our Knowledge Center, driven by the unprecedented scale of our national network of patient data.
